EAC's Rally For 3-2 Win

Junior League Playoff Tied Up in Tight Knot

If Eddie Cutts, tight-lipped EAC coach, gave pep talks, he probably would have come up with something like this during the second break at the St. Louis Arena last night.

"Keep up the good work boys, you're doing fine. Keep raising rubber at Paterson (first-Magpie lead goals), as you have in the last two periods. The law of averages is bound to pay off."

Whether it was a pep talk or just their plucky nature, the EAC players came roaring out of their dressing room to start the final frame, quickly tied the score at 2-2 and then husky Don Perry cut loose with a 2-6 shot drive to wrap up the game.

ONE GAME APEACE Result left the clubs tied at one game apiece in the best-of-seven Junior League hockey final series.

"It was a great game to win, a tough one for Leafs, and especially Paterson to lose."

The game, red-hatched Leaf goals was the only difference between the evening and the opening 20 minutes, and turned in a fine effort as Leafs vaulted to a 2-0 margin.

Ken Walton opened scoring for Leafs, slapping Bud Purkins' pass-out behind Wally Lashman at 5:41. Lanky Eddie Frier equalized with a 2-6 shot, scoring on a passing bout with Kay Straley and Purkins.

The Clubmen had a good portion of the play, but were out of breaks kept them off the sheet.

HAND WRITING ON WALL The hand writing on the wall for Leafs toward the latter part of the sandwich session. Doug Kilburn started the Leafs back at 18:15, flipping Bruce Dickson's rebound over the awestruck Paterson.

The Clubmen then went about their chores in determined style in the final, with Ken Heat writing the count on a double play from Eddie Frier and Duke Edmondson, and Perry driving the winner.

Eric Paterson was helped from the ice late in the third period by the St. Louis Cardinals.

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals baseball club was notified yesterday that it was not to be allowed to use Sportsman's park.

The notice was served by the St. Louis Police Department, which owns the park and which is controlled by the St. Louis Browns.

A feud between the club's two major league clubs over use of the park has been smoldering for some time. The Browns have demanded a higher rental for the $25,000 Cardinals are paying annually and have been irritated by the refusal of the Cardinals to stop radio broadcasts of their road games.

The move apparently will result in a quiet battle with the Cardinals as a position where they must act quickly to insure themselves a place in which to play home games during the 1949 season which opens here April 22.

SUMMARY First Period: Leafs (Purkins) 1-0; Leafs (Frier) 2-0. Second Period: EAC (Kilburn) 2-2. Third Period: EAC (Perry) 3-2.

GOALS: Purkins, Frier, Kilburn, Perry. PENALTIES: Paterson, Straley, Purkins, Lashman, Dickson, Walton, Frier, Kilburn, Perry.

U.S. HOCKEY TEAM SORRY FOR 'CONDUCT' STOCKHOLM, March 1.—(Reuters)—The United States hockey team touring Sweden yesterday apologized for its "conduct" when players fought spectators during Sunday's match against the Soderstrale sports club at Stockholm stadium.

In a telegram to the Swedish Ice Hockey association, it added: "The public should also abstain from clashes with players."

The fight started when spectators climbed the railings of the penalty box and attacked the United States players. They had been penalized. The rest of the team left the ice to help their coach.

No Sawdust From the West If This Trouble Kept In East

TORONTO, March 1.—(CP)—Pierre Cadieux will have to explain a form C he signed with Montreal Canadiens in 1946, President J. J. McFayden of the Ontario Hockey Association said last night.

The form gives Cadieux's birth date as Dec. 25, 1926—making him now too old for junior hockey.

The Stratford Kronen forward hit the ice against Toronto Marlies last night but his team bowed out of the OHA playoffs by dropping a 7-5 decision that cost them a best-of-three quarter-final series, two games to one. Cadieux scored one of Stratford's goals.

THE FURN C. document came from general manager Frank Selke of the Montreal Canadiens, and it came just as OHA officials were ready to examine two birth certificates. One of them says Cadieux is 22, the other says he's 19.

Marlies said at first they thought they were playing the OHA. But a few hours before game time they withdrew their protest.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association started the trouble Sunday night with the charge that the Valleyfield Queens, winner of the 1000 for junior hockey.

George Panzer, OHA assistant secretary, produced a certificate signed by the player was born March 25, 1926, and in Stratford yesterday Cadieux confirmed that date. That would make him 19 and eligible.

But Montreal Royals, a junior club with which Cadieux played, claim to have a certificate showing Cadieux was born Dec. 24, 1926. That would make him 22 and ineligible.

Stuffy Smith, manager of the Marlies, asked the OHA to award Marlies the playoff series, alleging that Cadieux was ineligible.

And Quebec Marlies also jumped into the picture. They were edged from the playoffs by Stratford and manager R. A. Summerfield said: "If he's ineligible, we want back in the playoffs and I'll appeal to the OHA immediately."

FRIEND TELLS ALL In Montreal, a friend of the Cadieux family in Valleyfield told the Montreal Gazette by telephone that forward Pierre Cadieux of Stratford Kronen is the Ontario junior A league is over and has been using his cousin's birth certificate.

"He's nearly every one about him being over age but couldn't figure out how he was getting away with it," the Gazette quoted the "friend" as saying.

This person told the newspaper that the Cadieux with the Stratford team is Joseph Pierre Cadieux, son of Alton Cadieux, and born at Montreal, Que., Dec. 24, 1926.

He said the certificate filed by the player with the OHA is that of a cousin, Joseph Raymond Pierre Cadieux, born March 25, 1926, in the parish of St. Cecile de Valleyfield.

The Gazette's informant said there was no doubt that the Pierre Cadieux playing for Stratford was the one born in 1926, and is thus ten years over the 19-year junior age limit.

Full-Time Planner Is Urged for City

Commission Said Frustrated By Action Of Officials

Appointment of a "full-time town planner," was advocated last night at city council by Ald. R. F. L. Hanna.

This suggestion was made during discussion by aldermen of Prof. Cecil S. Burgess, resignation as chairman of the Town Planning Commission.

Ald. Hanna, who is one of council representatives on the town planning commission, informed aldermen that members of the commission were frustrated and discouraged by seeming lack of co-operation from civic officials.

SEES NO PLAN
He asserted there was not sufficient co-operation between the city engineer's department and the commission.

At present, Ald. Hanna stated, the city does not appear to have a plan for future development, and is unable to have a plan.

Aldermen ordered the Burgess resignation tabled until next council meeting.

In the meantime, either commissioners or a committee of aldermen will interview Prof. Burgess seeking reconsideration of his resignation.

Ald. H. E. Tanner, also a member of the town planning commission, said the difference between the commission and the civic administration arose over the placing of the Glenview Development hotel on the city centre.

WERE NOT INFORMED
He and the commission was not informed of the proposal although discussions on the project had been carried out by the commissioners for several months.

Ald. Tanner emphasized that commission members felt they did not receive co-operation necessary for good town planning, and every effort should be made to obtain this essential co-operation.

Ald. Hanna quoted Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, as saying "there is a great deal of conflict between the public at large, members of city council, and city officials in respect to the stated policy and function of the Town Planning Commission."

Ald. Sidney Parkin took exception to this statement. He said in 11 years as alderman city council never took action to overrule any action by the commission.

COMMITTEES URGED
Seven committees are suggested by the town planning commission to streamline its operations.

They are a zoning committee to deal with zoning applications; a special committee to review the zoning regulations; a legal sub-committee to consider any weaknesses in operation of the Town Planning Act.

Also suggested is a street and transit committee to deal with street, park driveways, car parking and traffic problems, and a parks committee to study parks of all kinds, motor, central park area, green belt around the city and new neighborhood layouts.

An industry committee also would be established to consider zoning for industrial sites, warehouses and retail store sites. Also listed is a publicity committee.

ON THE TOWN

By J. D.

They can talk all they like about the Four Freedoms and crashing through the Iron Curtain but this country really needs a good five-cent cup of coffee.

3 APPROACHES TO EDMONTON TO BE LIGHTED

Highway approaches to the city will become "great white ways" this year.

Electric light department will spend an estimated $24,000 on the installation of special lighting along the approaches on the Calgary, Namsa and Fort Road Highways, and on streets throughout the city.

Total of $862,200 will be spent on line construction, transformers and distribution system, and in the continuation of policy of placing all cables underground.

Approximately $50,000 will be spent on erection of substations to various parts of the city to carry increased energy loads.

1949 Tourists To Get More Personal Aids

Though Alberta gained nearly $7,000,000 in 1948 from the tourist business, the province is going to allocate its resources accordingly.

As announced in the legislature yesterday by Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of economic affairs, is an hour-long contribution to the Tourist Speech debate.

He said he had been asked to conduct a personal contact campaign with tourists by having them receive at ports of entry by Albertans who can give them all the information they need and who can help them on their way.

He said 30 new industries were established in Alberta in 1948. He clarified the government's interpretation of "industry" as a manufacturing plant, which explained why Edmonton was able to claim 60 new industries for the same period.

Edmonton's definition of "industry" included other businesses.

Reviewing the government's immigration program, which falls under his department, Hooke said about 1,100 families from Great Britain had arrived here during the year.

Turning to cultural activities, Hooke said many doubted the value of government direction of these activities, but felt the work done by this branch was important, though difficult to measure in dollars and cents.

He said he agreed with the out-of-control coffee boom, but added if they are to be taken from the news stands, something more wholesome should replace them.

Water Supply Short Again

Recurrence of the water shortage that occurred here last summer is expected again.

City council, on recommendation of the commissioners, gave third reading to an amendment to the waterworks by-law providing power to restrict the use of tap water, except for interior domestic or commercial purposes.

Last summer restrictions were placed on watering of lawns and gardens because pressure in the mains fell below the fire protection minimum when lawn sprinkling was permitted.

The by-law amendment will permit commissioners to institute restrictions in use of water following publication of the proposed curtailment.

Power also is given the commissioners to institute restrictions in use of water following publication of the proposed curtailment.

I'm quite a coffee connoisseur. So most of my pals. What we all want to know and still haven't been able to find out after years of research—is why we pay unequal prices for coffee.

I'll take my oath on it that I've paid all the way from 10 to 25 cents for an ordinary cup of coffee. I should admit that the 25-cent coffee was exceptional.

I was trapped into buying the two bits because I failed to notice a sign on the wall that read: "No service in booths under 25 cents."

Just the same, coffee was all I wanted so I really paid 25 cents for it, didn't I?

What really bothered me and a lot of my friends is the fact the cafe serves you coffee for just one nickel while cafe No. 3 slips you a check for six cents, and eating house No. 2 says seven cents please.

Then there are any number of places that have a steady charge of 10 cents per cup.

There's the odd place that makes you a five-cent charge for coffee if you have a meal. Others tack on a full dime, even the book-stores serve steak with all the trimmings.

Of course this coffee price mixup started during the war when the government controlled coffee. The War-time Prices Board suddenly set all prices of meats, some operators who were selling meats pretty cheaply found the book-keepers had raised the price of coffee to 10 cents per cup.

So the price fixers had a bright idea. They said, we can't raise the price of meats or it will cause an awful mixup. So they kept the price of coffee to 10 cents per cup.

For the little fellow who was caught under the ceiling of 30 to 40 cents, the boost in coffee prices was a big help. But most of the 50, 75 cent operators saw a chance to make a killing.

One of the big ones was the large city coffee confection that five-cent boost in coffee increased the total take for one year by $30,000.

No wonder that song about "the coffee man" was so popular. It was a song about a coffee man who was a little bit of a con man.

Now I think that coffee men have their troubles just the same as other businessmen in these days of runaway inflation. At the same time it would be nice if they could get together and agree on just exactly what a little cup of Java is worth.

I'd just as soon see a headwater how much profit is made on a 10-cent cup of coffee.

I looked at me pityingly and replied: "How much profit, you ask. Why we lose money on a 10-cent cup of coffee. Do you know that it costs 12 cents to serve one customer. An expert in the States has figured that out."

I thought I had an answer to that one when I asked him how the cafe would fare if 50¢ people drank coffee every day in his cafe.

He just grinned and came back with: "It would still cost 12 cents to serve each customer."

I didn't argue further. I still think that what this country needs most of all is a good five-cent cup of coffee.

Wilson Says 'Specials' Are Revenue Source

Edmonton Transit System officials might develop a "very good business" by scheduled services to picnic grounds and parks on holidays.

This is suggested in the report of Toronto transit expert, Norman D. Wilson. He suggests scheduled services specifically the possibility of operating regular scheduled services on Sundays and holidays to places like White Mud Creek and other picnic grounds and parks on holidays.

Expert Wilson said that the city should obtain, and there are not already paid-out, to operate suburban services outside the city limits. In this connection he mentions the present Imperial Oil Ltd. and the planned McCallum-Frost (near Oil Co. refinery at Clover Bar) just outside the city.

West Jasper Place is another area that could eventually be served by suburban bus lines.

The city would operate these routes at its own financial risk or at cost guaranteed by the municipality served.

Accident Victim Still Critical

Hospital officials in Edmonton report the condition of 23-year-old Terry Mosley of Lethbridge, who was injured in a recent accident, is still serious today.

Mosley was injured in an accident Sunday about 14 miles north of Morinville. He has been unconscious since that time. Details of the accident are not complete.

It is believed that Mosley was standing on the road watching a truck pull out from a ditch when an approaching car struck him.

Utility reserves will be $1,300,000 short of meeting total expenditures, and this amount will be capitalized.

City engineer's department has the highest spending appropriation (the highest spending appropriation) of $2,540,700, telephone system ranks second with $1,700,000, and waterworks third with $1,250,000.

Electric light department will spend $871,800, the power plant $200,000 and the fire system $100,000.

ALL PRUNED

All departmental estimates were pruned to the limit by the technical department headed by A. W. Haddad, former city engineer. This board whittled $67,000 off the estimates.

Superintendents before submitting them for council's consideration. The total of $8,324,426 for all the city's projects.

The department will spend $1,800,000 on street lighting and other works all of which will be capitalized, against the $1,800,000 in the city's capital account.

Paving, grading, graveling, curbs and boulevarding, and water and sewerage expenditures total $1,253,477 of which $464,100 is chargeable against property and $789,377 against the city at large.

$250,000 is included in the estimates for street lighting. Entire appropriation will be borne by property.

Lateral and secondary inter-tor sewers appropriation is listed as $100,000.

Alberta second wildcat well, Silo-Lac La Piche No. 1, is still under control Tuesday morning, according to reports from the company's office in Calgary. Flow of gas, all coming through the casing, was not fully stopped Tuesday noon, but preparations were being completed to run heavy mud which is expected to kill the flow. The well broke loose Friday morning and was brought under control in the afternoon.

Prices Drop At Chicago

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP)—Shilling in grain, reported by buyers as poor cashing and liquidation, knocked prices down at the close of trade today.

Grains showed some nervousness from the start when traders heard the forecast of a much heavier supply, anticipated before warm weather set in. The spot market quoted an easier trading basis, especially in the lower grades.

Wheat declined after the selling movement started, regardless of the heavy government purchases, movement yesterday.

At the futures market recovery from a day's low had been made and wheat was 1/4 to 2 cents below the previous finish.
